PUBLIC NOW BARRED FROM NEW YORK'S RELICS OF CRIME

Is Sunday to You the Best Day in the Week?

Tomorrow is the ginning of a new week—not thriveling up of a so-called weekend. To begin each new week with freshened mind, renewed courage and lighter heart, greater faith in God and confidence in mankind, is the hay privilege of those who lay aside their worldly interests and endeavors to attend Divine worship on Sunday evenings.

The Church stands for those things which make this old world a good place to live. In days of turmoil and great unrest, in days of peace and prosperity, the church leads upwards and onward, inspiring men, women and children to be honest, straight and clean before God and in their dealings with one another. The church enables the child of this world to lay hold of the things worth while in this life which lead to the Life Eternal.

The Churches (THE TRIPLE CITIES present) you a practical, workable program for 24 hours of every day, for seven days of every week in the year; not an impossible treatise on theology to be set down on a Sunday morning carried to Church, and then returned to its place to await the next weekly impulse.

On the regular Church page which appears in this issue of the DAILY NEWS you will find announcements of the services to be held tomorrow. You are cordially invited to join in the seeking and finding the best things in life in making the world better at yourself happier.

GEDDES NOT ASKED TO MEDIATE IN YAP ISLE DISPUTE, SAID

(International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The United States has not asked British Ambassador Gidley to mediate the question of the Isle of Yap, the State department announced today in a denial of published reports that the British ambassador was to act as mediator between the United States and Japan. It is indicated that the dispute over Yapland is now between the United States and the council of the League of Nations and Great Britain as a member of the league would not be a proper mediator.

Beautiful, Touching Sermon on Heaven Delivered Friday By Sunday; Three Tomorrow

Approximately forty persons "hit the trail" with "Billy" Sunday at the close of that famous evangelist's sermon on dealing with eternal life and the supreme gift—Heaven, delivered in his typical forceful style to an overflowing house at the Auditorium Friday evening.

The sermon was attended by delegations from DeLand, Palatka, Mt. Dora and Sanford. During his short informal prelude "Billy" stated that it had almost been decided that he should make a two weeks' campaign at Orlando next February. He stated that an $8,000 tabernacle would probably be constructed for his use, and that the people were all enthusiastic over the idea. He may stop over again for a campaign in this city, it was said.

During this short informal talk the evangelist stated that he hated to say good-bye to the sand banks of Florida and say hello to the snow drifts of Ohio, say good-bye to the mocking bird and say hello to the sparrow; good-bye to the palmetto and hello to leafless trees of the North, but such was his routine, jumping from place to place and working to cut down the devil's muster roll.

"Billy" Sunday will deliver three sermons Sunday, one at 10:30 in the morning, one at 2:30 p.m. and one at 7:30 p.m. These three sermons will conclude the evangelist's ten day campaign here.

On his way home for a short rest before opening a lengthy campaign in Cincinnati, the evangelist will stop over at Jacksonville Monday and deliver a sermon there.

Beautiful Description of Heaven

The sermon last night was one of the most beautiful and descriptive delivered by the evangelist. At one time, when he painted a beautiful word picture of heaven, handkerchiefs were frequently applied to many eyes throughout the huge audience.

He did not deliver any text for his sermon, but dwelt on eternal life, the great reward—heaven, and how this supreme gift of God can be obtained by man.

"Ask any friend what he wants most of anything in the world, and his reply will generally be money, yet money can't buy a lot of things. The thing most people really want is eternal life. They can't buy it with money; they can't work for it, nor can they steal it—eternal life is the gift of God, given at the repentance of sins and acceptance of Jesus Christ.

"To those who would rather have money than anything else in life, let them consider love—that can't be bought with any amount of money, neither can a stain, true and tried friend be purchased with gold.

"Once I was in San Francisco during the gold craze that struck Alaska.

"A friend of mine who was in San Francisco shortly after the gold craze had started to die down in Alaska told me a story regarding money's purchasing power.

"A ship had just put into port from Seattle, where she had taken on a number of prosperous prospectors, men who had made good in the gold lined northland.

"Walking down this gangplank was an old friend of his, who had made a fortune in the gold mines. With him was his wife. He went up to greet his old acquaintance, and after they had chummed around a bit and had learned of the wealth procured my

HOW'S THE WEATHER
TODAY?

BOSTON, the storm center the past several weeks of a cold snap through the New England states, reported the coldest temperature last night, of the season, the official registration being 4 degrees below zero. New York was warmer, with 10 above, other cities reporting average temperatures for Friday and last night.

Daytona temperatures showed a range of 20 degrees, from 82 at noon Friday to 42 early this morning, one of the coldest nights of the present season.

Reports of the larger cities as given by the United States Weather Bureau follow:

	High	Low
Boston	26	8
Kansas City	56	32
New York	30	19
Cincinnati	36	22
Washington	36	22
New Orleans	60	52

friend asked the prospector where was his son Johnnie.

"Two years before that this man, his wife and son had left the United States with hardly money enough to pay their way to the gold crazed northland. During the accumulation of wealth their son died. They were returning to their home with a fortune, yet without their beloved son, and they would have gladly given the entire fortune and anything else in their possession to stell the hand of death.

"All of us want eternal life. The millionaire, given 12 months to live, goes to his doctor and puts his millions at his mercy, just to be spared one moment in life.

"Queen Elizabeth, with her wardrobe of 200 gorgeous gowns, would have given it all to be spared a moment when the last day came, and she answered the beckoning of the grim reaper.

Eternal Life a Gift From God

"All of us want eternal life, but it can't be procured only in one way. You can't work for it, you can't steal it. It is a gift, a gift from God for repentence of sins and acceptance of Jesus Christ."

During his sermon the evangelist touched on morality, discouraging the belief that through morality a man could live right on earth and be redeemed through his good doing when his time came to an end.

"Morality is a touch of religion, morality is not a part of religion, but religion is a part of morality," he stated.

"A man can be a bank president, his name as good as gold on a check and his name be synonymous with sin-cerity here on earth, but unless he accepts Jesus and repents from his sins, he will not be accepted into heaven."

"Here is a rich man, who lives his life here on earth, giving every one a square deal, and possessing great morality. Here is a hobo, a bum, who lives in the darkest shadows of sin. I go to the rich and moral man, ask him to accept Jesus Christ. No, he says, 'I go to the hobo, ask him to accept Jesus and repent his sins. No. What becomes of the two at the final judgment? Both go to hell."

During his word picture of heaven the evangelist touched the height of eloquence, leaving the slang entirely out of his speech.

After describing the conditions as given in the Bible, he gave a psalm story that touched the hearts of all and brought tears to the eyes of many.

"Someone asked me whether I thought 'Ma' would die first or whether I would," he said. "I don't know folks. But if Nell dies first this will be a gloomy old world and I'll appreciate it when the Lord calls my name."

"I know this much about it, folks. If Nell and the children do go before I arrive, though they don't tell me off the mansion set aside for us, I can walk along the streets and pick it out, for I'll have everything arranged for my coming, flowers in the yard and her personality strown all over the place."

"And if I so happen to go before Nell and the children, I'm going to ask them up there to let me have around the pearl gates, so I can get them on their arrival."

The evangelist grew more and more eloquent in telling his personal story.

UNIONS WILL FIGHT WAGE REDUCTION TO THE LIMIT, SAYS FEDERATION OFFICER

PANAMA AND COSTA RICO DECLARE WAR; REPORT UNCONFIRMED

(The Associated Press)

PANAMA, Feb. 26.—Hostilities have begun between Panama and Costa Rican forces in the vicinity of Coto, on the Pacific end of the frontier between the two countries, according to unofficial despatches. Official confirmation is lacking. A formal declaration of war was not made up to late last night.

SOLDIERS' BONUS BILL MINUS TAX PROVISION REPORTED TO SENATE

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Any reduction in the scale of wages paid workers of America must be contingent on a corresponding reduction in the cost of living, according to a statement today by James Duncan, head of the Granite Cutters' union, vice-president of the American Federation of Labor and spokesman for labor in Harlan's cabinet.

Duncan indicated a possibility that organized labor might call on to face a demand for wage reductions when the present contract between unions and employers was completed. He also stated that any demand for such reductions would be strongly opposed by the unions.

NEGRO SHOOTS PEDDLER WHO MADE RESISTANCE DURING THE HOLD-UP

(International News Service)

MEMPHIS, Feb. 26.—Violence is feared today if the negro bandit who shot and killed Frank Sears, a peddler, last night, is caught. Sears resisted when the negro attempted to hold him up. The negro escaped.

JOE LYNCH OFFERS RETURN BATTLE TO DEFEATED "CHAMP"

(The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Joe Lynch, who won the world's heavyweight championship from Pete Loman last December, today sent a message to the New Orleans boxer stating that he is ready to make good his promise for an early return bout.

DAY OF "CHICKEN" PASSING IN PARIS

(International News Service)

LONDON, Feb. 26.—The day of the "chicken" is at an end.

Women, both young and old, have been celebrating an extremely festive appearance for the past six weeks. Now comes news from Paris that an attitude of mystery and a distinguishing emblem have gained the upper hand.

White ladies have replaced bobbed girls. Women are blushing a part of their hair to obtain a distinctive effect.

There was another stamp in 1920, a tame, sangfroid, bobbed outfit, and a sort of shorts suit. Today the young women are treading in shoes older than those they are wearing, as well as hats. There was dancing in white silk stockings at the beginning of the year.

And the government's enforcement branch is utterly impotent at the face of it.

Government agents and their chief, Commissioner of Customs, are unable to apprehend the chief offenders, the prostitutes themselves. The prostitutes simply can be made up all the way but it is a matter of time before they are caught.

NEARLY $7,000 RAISED AT ELKS' CHARITY FAIR

Nearly $7,000 has been raised for charity through the staging of the Elks' Charity Fair, it became known at a dinner, tendered the Fair executive committee at Cattaneo's Grill Friday evening by Noble F. Martin, director of the Fair.

During the dinner congratulations were passed between Colonel Martin, who has been directing the staging of these fairs for the past 23 years, and Mr. W. M. Hankins entertained, complimentarily to Mr. and Mrs. Alburnus C. Hankins.

One of the most enjoyable affairs of the season was given last evening at the Ortona Tea Rooms, when Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Hankins entertained, complimentarily to Mr. and Mrs. Alburnus C. Hankins.

In the neighborhood of 65 guests, comprising the younger set and the young married set, were present and enjoyed dancing until the early hours of morn. Music was furnished by the Ridgewood hotel orchestra. A delicious refreshment course was served at 11 o'clock. The feature of the evening was the elimination dance, the prize winners being Mrs. E. P. Woodbury and Raymond C. Green.

The Elks executive committee then presented a formal vote of thanks to Colonel Martin and his daughter, Miss Jessie Martin, thanking them both for the admirable work done in connection with the Fair, awarding Miss Martin a beautiful pearl necklace as a token of appreciation for her work.

With all bills except that for electric lights paid, the exact amount of net proceeds derived through the Fair was $6,923.25.

Appreciative of the work of the ladies in making the Elks' Charity Fair a great success for charity, the following resolutions were signed during the dinner:

Byron W. Boyd of Seabreeze Passes Away Early Today

Byron W. Boyd, for many years a resident of Seabreeze, originally from Canada, passed quietly away to the Great Beyond at his home, 226 Peninsula Drive, Seabreeze, early Saturday morning.

During his residence in Seabreeze, Mr. Boyd had won a wide circle of warm friends who will deeply mourn his passing, and extend their heartfelt sympathy to his survivors. The funeral services are being postponed pending word from a sister of the deceased who is in Canada.

Bargatt-Wetherell have charge of the arrangements, and Dr. Ritter will officiate at the burial services.

Tickets are on sale at the Rexall store for the World's Championship Wrestling match next Thursday evening at the Armory, when "Strangler" Lewis, will meet LeMarin, Canadian Champion, for world honors.

683-2-26-21.

GOOD MORNING, JUDGE!

Ed. Wetherell, an employee of a local restaurant, decided that in view of wages, he was entitled to carry off the silverware, but officers desisted differently and arrested him, charged with petty pilfering. The judge this morning fined Wetherell $25 or 30 days, the fine being paid.

John Carpenter, charged with being a vagrant, was fined $10, with the option of 29 days on City Island, but the judge promised to remit the fine and sentence if Carpenter showed how fast he could walk out of town. He lost no time in the manner of his departure.

J. W. Howard appeared in the court this morning with two charges hovering over him, one for reckless driving of an automobile, and another for driving a car with insufficient lighting. On the first charge he paid a $25 fine, receiving a suspended sentence on the second charge.

Many Candidates for Office at Daytona Beach Elections March 26th Being Discussed

Saturday, March 5, is the last day on which the Daytona Beach caucus can be held.

By that time the candidates for the various city offices to be voted on Saturday, March 26, will be nominated. Considerable interest is being manifested by those who are prominent in the affairs of the public here, but no one seems to be caring a great deal who are chosen to sit in the high saddles during the next municipal administration. One well known taxpayer said to the News yesterday morning:

"By all odds the most important officers to be chosen so far as the welfare of the city is concerned are the three new councilmen, who will have in their power to entirely control the public business for the next year at least. They will have thrust upon them of spending every dollar the taxpayers are called upon to contribute to the maintenance of the city government. It is necessary, therefore, that they should be men who have made a success of their own affairs and have proved their judgment in wisely spending their own funds. We should have experienced business men who will be sure to give careful consideration of every matter of public interest, no matter how trivial, and who have the ability to act wisely and the courage and honor to see that no public dollar is spent without an adequate consideration is received therefor. I am really surprised that so little thought is usually given so important a matter here. If the city is blessed with the right kind of councilmen the interests of the taxpayers will be in safe hands, otherwise there will be waste and extravagance if not worse. Every taxpayer should wake up, attend the caucuses, and see that clean, able and honorable representative citizens are nominated for every office. No voter who fails to attend the caucuses has any moral right to object to the candidate presented. When a poor ticket is named it is nearly always the fault of those who do not take enough interest in their city's business to attend the caucuses and fight for the right material."

As yet no call for the caucuses has been made and no date fixed thereto. When asked regarding the matter, R. L. Selden, clerk for the council, said: "In past years I have usually prepared the call for the caucuses, presented it to the mayor and he has signed it and I presume this will be the procedure this year. I have not yet made up my mind what date the caucuses will be called for, but I feel sure it will be some time during the first week of March, and I do not think it will be as late as March 5, which is the latest date under the law on which it can be held."

As the time for the caucuses approaches most of the talk for mayoralty candidates centers on John Farr, O. J. Masker and D. J. Tracy. When asked this morning if Mrs. Parker would be in the race, George A. Parker, the collector said: "The notice that she would be was all news to me, and I think in my wife. Mrs. Parker is a woman who believes that men should take care of men's business. It does not seem to me as if it would be very fitting for a lot of drunks to be brought up before a woman for trial. If Mrs. Parker is a candidate I don't know it."

Several names are looming up as councilmanic possibilities. They include:

Harry Thompson of the Chireton hotel garage. He is a man of family and lives in the Boatwick Park section.

Clarence Willard, the well known typewriter operator at the Daily News office. He is also a man of family and lives in the Marshall Park district.

George D. Young, the well known owner of the Atlantic Pharmacy, also a family man.

Gary G. Bailey, owner of the Seaside drug store, and president of the Chamber of Commerce.

George Poote, a well known resident of the Marshall Park section of the city.

When asked if he would be a candidate for re-election, President W. F. Bleckman of the present council said: "Some days I think I will and some days I think I will not. But if the people do not want me to serve any longer I certainly do not want it."

R. L. Selden announces that he is a candidate for re-election, both as clerk and assessor.

It is understood that George A. Parker will run for collector again. Also that Henry Pollitt desires to succeed himself as city treasurer. Marshal W. D. Young also expects to be on the ticket for re-election. It is estimated that C. H. Wilson will again try his luck with G. A. Parker for

Negro Cook at the Neptune Threatened by a Colored Waiter

Wm. Cornwaller, negro, who lives at 458 Magnolia street, Daytona, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Marshal W. D. Young, charged with threatening "to blow out the brains of Susie Brown, the negro cook at the Neptune hotel.

When the Brown woman had a call, Cornwaller, who with his wife, were employed as waiter and waitress in the hotel dining room, ordered the negro to take off his hat. This caused words between the cook and Cornwaller, when it is alleged the latter threatened the negro woman's life and warned her if she showed up there again she would be in danger. As a result Proprietor F. L. Ferguson of the hotel discharged Cornwaller, but as he was seen standing about the street and it was reported he was making threats against the negroes, the hotel help became frightened and threatened to leave.

In order to protect the negro help at the hotel Mrs. T. F. Eldridge of Webster, R. I., who, with her husband, have charge of the Neptune dining room and who heard some of the threats made by Cornwaller, appeared before Justice R. L. Selden and swore out a warrant for Cornwaller's arrest.

When Marshal Young found the defendant at his home he admitted his name was Cornwaller, but when the warrant was produced, declared that was not his name. When he was brought before Justice Selden he refused to enter a plea until his wife was sent for, which was done. Upon the arrival of his wife he plead "not guilty."

Mrs. Eldridge testified she heard Cornwaller threaten Susie Brown, that he would come back at night and blow her brains out and that she would not leave the kitchen alive. This happened in the morning of February 23.

Mrs. Sadie Parker corroborated the testimony of Mrs. Eldridge. She thought Cornwaller was apt to carry out his threats.

Susie Brown swore Cornwaller attacked her while she was at the stove cooking. He threatened to blow her brains out and told her she would never leave the kitchen alive. She said she believed Cornwaller would carry out his threat and that she was afraid to stay there.

Mrs. Cornwaller testified she overheard the conversation and denied her husband made the threats charged, and said she heard the cook say she would strike him with an iron.

William Cornwaller, the defendant, told the same story.

Mrs. Eldridge, Mrs. Parker and Mr. Ferguson all testified that Mrs. Cornwaller was not there at all on the morning of the 23d and therefore could have heard nothing of the affair.

In speaking of this trouble F. L. Ferguson, the Neptune proprietor, said:

"We are compelled to do something in order to keep our help. This man did everything he could to make our help think they were in danger if they stayed over here, and it is impossible to run the hotel without them. I had all I could do to get the cook to stay before this fellow was arrested. When he made the threats he made motions as if he intended to draw a revolver."

Cornwaller was given 24 hours to leave town at the conclusion of the case.

"Some have called it the psalm of the lark—not our common meadow lark, but the English lark, that is the peer of song birds."

With this the evangelist told a touching story about the silver-toned song of the English lark.

"One day a friend of mine in Detroit received word that his mother, who was in London, was seriously ill.
He hastened to her bedside, but before he could cross the Atlantic she had passed away.

"After his arrival in England, the funeral was held, the body taken to one of those English burial grounds, secluded amid God's natural beauties.

"Just as the body had been lowered into the grave, a bevy of larks, as though by signal, flew up from neighboring bushes, winging their way sky-ward, singing, it seemed, more beautiful than they went.

So appealing and beautiful was their song that the bereaved family, for getting their sorrows for the moment, looked up to heaven, and even after the larks were out of sight, placed their hands back of their ears and listened to their song." People, forget that place where your ambition, simplicity in living, and Christianity is buried—and harken to the word of Jesus Christ, who is winging his way throughout this old world, ready to sing the song of cheer at your acceptance of Him as the Son of God,
and abide by His word.

At times during the sermon the evangelist turned to several well known poems, weaving them in with his sermon making the entire theme of his preaching more touching and forceful.

The Story of the Scotch Shepherd

During a discussion of the Lord's tendency for weakness, and in trying to explain that God's Gospel is not as strictly applied to some as to others, that there are exceptions, and different standards to be considered, he cited the story of the Old Scotch shepherd who cared for a flock near his boyhood home.

"Near my old boyhood home an aged old Scotchman, day in and day out, watched over a flock of sheep. He was slightly lame and was nearsighted.
With him as his companion and helper,
was a well trained shepherd dog.

The old shepherd, with a telescope would sit on a high spot, take his glass and search over the plains where his flock were feeding. At times he would turn to the dog and say, "There Nellie," pointing to the woods, "they are getting too far away from the open grass—too near the wolves, so and being too far a bit."

With this the dog would leap up, make a wild dart, and chase the targeted sheep back from the edge of the woods, within which the wolves lay in wait to spring upon them.

"God is sitting on high and watching His flock, too, brothers, and throughout.

"He is trying and trying to ward off the wolves and keep you in the light—the open country, but sometimes He has to send the hounds to round you up and keep you from the wolves."

"A lot of times I've seen that old shepherd come straggling along the road with a little lamb, crippled or sick in his arms. But never did I see him with a ram or an old sheep.
Old timers He cared for the weak. God cares for the weak also—more than you old tough birds who are able to do for yourselves."

In dealing with Jesus' reward for blood spent on the cross, the evangelist cited another story.

"A famous preacher was delivering a series of sermons in a New England town. One night he was approached by an elderly man who invited him out to supper.

"It has been 23 years since we have had a stranger in our home," the man stated, "for you see, we have an imbecil son. But I believe you won't mind, will you, and we will be very glad to have your presence in our home."

The preacher accepted, and that night went to the home. There he found that the imbecil son was a man of about 24 years of age.

"The father told the story of how the son had never recognized his mother or his father, and of the care required for his safekeeping.

"Is it hereditary," the preacher asked.
No, stated the father, it was caused by prolonged sickness when he was but one year old. Up until then he was a very bright child.

"The minister said that in his opinion it would have been best had God called him away—knowing he would never regain his right mind.

"No, no," cried the father. We have often thought of that and have prayed that God grant him the right state of mind just long enough to recognize his mother and I, tell us how much he loved us for our toils and troubles in caring for him, we would be more than rewarded for the expense, sleepless nights and anxiety."

Must Be Awakened

"People," said the evangelist, "I believe that the only reward Jesus appreciates is your statement that you have awakened to his sufferings to see you, have accepted Him, and He would be repaid in full for spilling his blood on the cross so that you were saved."

"Yet there are some whom the shroud of prosperity and happiness can't make you bend your knee and offer prayer to Him that made these things possible."

In editing another passage, "Though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil, for Thou art with me, thy rod and thy staff thou comfort me," the evangelist gave an inside glimpse of his own home life.

"Once, while we were living in Chicago with our children, George, my younger son, and I were up on the second floor of our home. It was night and we were about to retire, so I had cut off the gas on the lower floor.

"Thinking of something on the ground floor that I wanted, I asked my younger son to go and bring it to me.

"Did you shut off the gas, Papa," he asked, his eyes growing larger and larger.

"Yes, my son," I replied.

"Oh, then I'm afraid—I'd been reading Orphan Annie—James Whitcomb Riley."

"But there's nothing there that will burn you, I said."

"But something might jump through the window and grab me any moment," Papa, he said, his eyes still larger. So I took him by the hand, led the way downstairs, struck a match and lit the gas.

This unobtrusive architecture, particularly suited to the environment, will be the greatest attraction—the realization of the Temple Terraces groves—especially from the planning to the building of the trees.

The huge scale on which Temple Terraces developments are planned possible to take advantage of buying economies and economies in 100% develop-

Other Outstanding Advantages of Orange Groves in Temple Terraces

All groves in Temple Terraces will be planted with trees of the new and most orange, the Temple.

The fruit produced will be in demand at good prices regardless of the movement of less desirable oranges.

It will cost the owners of Temple Terraces
